(Times News Services).

A patient at Royal Victoria Hospital in Barrie, Ont.; is believed to be the $1-million winner in Canada's second Olympic Lottery draw.

Hospital administrator Donald Cameron said today that he "understands" that patient Max Matetich is aware he has become a millionaire. The administrator said that Matetich, a district manager, here for Thomas Adams Distillers (Ontario) Ltd., could not be interviewed for confirmation of his windfall.

John Matetich of Cambridge, brother of the patient, was reached at the patient's home here today but did not confirm it either.
"I've heard the rumor too but I haven't seen the ticket."

The brother said he did not know where the ticket is. Mary Cuamo of the Toronto suburb of Mississauga and sister of the patient, was en route to Barrie, the brother said.

Jim MacLean, 25, a $155-a-week Toronto printer, won the $500,000 prize. He said he hoped to fly to Montreal later today to collect the money.

After that, he plans to take his wife and three-month-old son back to his native Nova Scotia where he will enrol in uni-

MacLean said he will borrow the airplane fare to Montreal to pick up his prize today.

Julien Cote, general manager of the lottery, said unofficially that two residents of British Columbia were believed to hold prize-winning tickets.

PauleBeena of New Westminster, 6th Ave., Apt. 111, won $100,000 with ticket number 5780157, while Douglas J. Martin, North Vancouver, 32 Regent St., won $25,000 with number 6261956. Their names were matched ahead of others because they purchased their tickets by mail, Cote said in an interview. The 12 prize-winning numbers were all purchased in British Columbia, Ontario, and Quebec. Next Olympic Lottery draw will be held Nov. 1 in Fredericton, N.B.

Figures released today by the mines department show production valued at $1,113,580,034 compared to $636,217,776 in 1972. The 1972 mineral production value was 20.7 per cent higher than the previous year with the 1971 value totalling $527,963,145.

The major portion of the 1973 increase came with a 73 per cent jump in the value of metal production with a 1973 total at $808,155,982 compared with $372,032,770 the previous

The value of fuels jumped 18 per cent in 1973 with a total value of $204,007,357; structural metals increased in value 7 per cent with a total of $73,447,031; and industrial metals increased just 2 per cent with a total value of $27,969,664.

More than half of the total value of mineral production in B.C. accrued from copper production which was valued in 1973 at $594,830,904, a 184 per cent increase over 1972.

Actual production of copper in 1973 increased 247.6 million pounds, bringing the total pro-duction to 714.6 million

The next most valuable mineral was coal with a total value of $87,976,105, up 33 per cent from 1972.

Crude oil production was down about 2.7 million barrels in 1973 with a total production of 21.1 million barrels.

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Trudeau, in his first major announcement since the July election, has wiped out the 12-per-cent federal sales tax on footwear and clothing and warned retailers to pass the benefit on to consumers. He also set the recall of Parliament for Sept. 26. He told a news conference following the first post-election cabinet meeting Tuesday that quick removal of the tax was essential because some retailers have delayed fall purchases and others have run into storage and financing problems with existing stocks. The consumer affairs de-partment has been instructed to monitor prices and ensure that the full benefit of the sales-tax-removal goes to consumers, he said.

The value of the tax cut has been estimated at $20 million to $25 million a month.

On the subject of a cabinet shuffle, Trudeau would only say that his ideas had not yet 'matured' in his mind. He would not even give an indication of a date when such a shuffle would be announced. #### Tears of Tory Frustration

Unlike some of the Prairie cowboys in the Progressive Conservative caucus who continually ride herd on Tory policy, former Conservative House leader Gerald Baldwin is a respected parliamentarian and a man of usually rational views. So it comes as a surprise to see him dragging out the old shibboleth of Western separatism. Mr. Baldwin says the recent federal election shows the West has rejected Central Canada and is now more likely to separate from the rest of Canada than Quebec.

He goes on to warn the federal government not to use a big stick to deprive Westerners of their equity in their own natural resources. In translation that means let Alberta Premier Lougheed do what he wishes in the oil industry for the good of Alberta, rather than the whole country. Then it's on to "pseudo national and Eastern dominated organizations such as the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation whose Toronto based clique engages in patronizing putdowns of the West." Translation: Don't put on any serious drama or national satires that might offend some redneck in Popcorn, Alberta.

Lack of Western industry, transportation problems and "sickly programs of state welfarism and guaranteed idleness," were also thumped by Mr. Baldwin. Take a closer look at these alarmist statements and they become political fodder. The largest 1973 items in Canada's "sickly state welfarism". were $712 millions for provincial medicare payments, $1,065 millions for provincial hospital insurance payments and $890 millions for unemployment insurance. Federal welfare services accounted for only $119 millions. Is that kind of funding guaranteeing idleness? And wasn't it Mr. Baldwin's party leader who toyed with a guaranteed national income?

On depriving Westerners of their natural resource equity: The imposition of a 40 cent per barrel federal tax on Western oil produces about $15 million revenue per month, some of which finds its way back to provincial treasuries through grants. The tax means that Canadians are receiving revenue that would otherwise go to the United States since more than 90 per cent of the Canadian oil industry is American owned. That "eastern dominated" CBC has just built a multi-million production centre in Vancouver as well as increased national production facilities in Edmonton and Winnipeg. Problems of Western secondary industry and transportation won't be solved overnight but the government has promised a $300-million urban transportation scheme and the prime minister made a point on election night of saying the west would receive careful attention.

No Western provincial government is talking separatism, only Mr. Baldwin and a rump group of federal Tories who have been out of sorts ever since the Conservative party entered the 20th century. To say that the West is a tinder-dry forest which only needs someone to strike a match to start a separatist conflagration is obvious exaggeration. The only people striking matches are Mr. Baldwin and friends. Luckily for Canada their matches are wet from tears of frustration.

Expansion of Canada's role in space research and participation is inevitable — certainly the need for deeper involvement will increase. Already this country has entered on the fringes of the space age through its investment in communications satellites such as the Anik relay satellite put into orbit with United States help. But that can be no more than a beginning as a space program.

Because of the great costs, much of our work will have to be done in conjunction with United States projects — and one of these is the Earth Resources Technology Satellite program now underway. A more adventurous enterprise will be the space shuttle service now under development in the U.S. which Canada is studying with a view to participation. This would involve development of reusable craft designed for connecting

Expansion of Canada's role in flights between earth and vehicles

Such projects are not fruitless essays into Buck Rogers science, but very practical efforts to use the new capabilities which the work of the past couple of decades in the United States has made available. Canada can no more stand aside from space advancement than it could have decided to stay aloof from electronics.

The millions of dollars involved may be daunting, but lack of development in the new science would prove much more costly in the end. We are really committed whether we wish to be or not, and the better plans we have for full participation the better it will be for us as a nation and as inhabitants of a planet which is beginning to spread its powers beyond the atmosphere.

Political Sleight of Foot

Provincial Progressive Conservative President Peter Hyndman can do remarkable tricks when it comes to political sleight of hand. Deserting Tory blue provincially, Mr. Hyndman is now a card-carrying B.C. Social Crediter. But the new provincial Social Crediter will remain a federal Conservative and even sit on the B.C.

Conservative party's board as a past president, although only on federal matters. That's not much reassurance for provincial Tories who have heard Mr. Hyndman say the party has no future provincially. A man who straddles so many streams needs at least three feet, and one is bound to get caught in

Curiously Ominous Signs

PARIS—President Tito of Yugoslavia is now in Bucharest conferring with Nicolae Ceausescu, his Rumanian colleague, and although—as neighbors, unorthodox Communists, and highly independent-minded leaders—they are always interested in each other, this time they have more than usual to discuss. The main burden of their colloguy; what to do in a time of troubles?

Curiously ominous signs have cropped up this spring. First a rumor appeared in Vienna that the Soviet-led Warsaw Pact was comtemplating an invasion of Yugoslavia (presumably when the 82-year-old Tito dies) called "Plan Polarka." This rumor foresaw an attack by Czechoslovakian and Soviet troops, heading southward across Austria, whose territory would be violated."

Blatant Nonsense

To me this sounds like blatant nonsense because at the very least it would smother East-West detente, to which Brezhnev is committed, and at the probable worst it could fouch off World War-III. Nevertheless, Marshal Yakubovsky and Gen. Shtemenko, Russian numbers one and two of the Warsaw Pact, have been circling Eastern Europe in a series of conferences with local commanders and defence ministers.

Most important perhaps was an unadvertised visit to Bucharest by Yakubovsky. Following this the Rumanians (who are themselves no slouches at rumor-mongering) put out the report that Moscow was demanding extra-territorial rights to a corridor leading through the Rumanian Dobrudja (a province on the Black Sea) connecting the Soviet Ukraine and Bulgaria.

All this talk has touched off speculation that the Russians want to move troops into Bulgaria (where they have none). Todor Zhivkov, the Sofia boss, referred last March to an old but refrigerated idea of incorporating Bulgaria into the USSE into the U.S.S.R.

Nowadays one knows - especially in the traditional Balkan tinderbox - that it is now always necessary that where there's smoke there's fire. Yet silly as they sound, one should not dismiss such rumors offhand.

To begin with, Moscow still smarts at the memory of Tito's brave stand, starting in 1948, when he rejected Soviet hegemony. Many Russian leaders wish to regain control of Yugoslavia - especially now after the loss of Egyptian naval facilities. That makes Belgrade's Adriatic bases even more valuable to a weakened Soviet Mediterranean fleet.

MARSHAL TITO

Moreover, the West has assumed for a long time that when the re-doubtable Tito dies, Moscow will seek, in one or another way, to corral the heretical Communist nation back to orthodoxy and the Warsaw Pact. This assumption gained credence in 1968 after the Russians forcibly seized Czechoslovakia.

However, the most prevalent worry is not that the Kremlin would sponsor an outright nvasion—despite the fact that it pretends to this privilege under the Brezhnev Doctrine permitting interference within the U.S.S.R.'s allies. A more usual theory is that carefully planted agents might stir the ashes of nationalism among the various Yugoslav peoples and then request Russian intervention to "restore order."

Tito has carefully sought to dampen any such thoughts in Moscow and has even cultivated an intermittent flirtation with Brezhnev. But this has been interspersed with other periods of mistrust. Yugoslavia has avoided Soviet military protection and Soviet interpretation of Marxism.

Yet the U.S.S.R. certainly would like to reaffirm its dominance over Yugoslavia, thus gaining Adriatic strongpoints, a military border with NATO Italy (already in the midst of crisis), and outflanking neutral Austria and pro-Chinese Albania. Moreover, were Yugoslavia to return to the Soviet fold, that would mean an end to any independence of view in Rumania which would then be totally surrounded.

Fully Alert

Washington is fully alert to the problem and—in no uncertain terms—has cautioned Moscow to lay off, warning that pressure would promptly produce "serious trouble" with the U.S. The question is, will the Kremlin wholly believe this? After all, the only Western response to the 1968 rape of Czechoslovakia was a not-too-loud "fie on you." The very least the West should do,

The very least the West should do, given the new sniff of Balkan dangerand, anyway, given the certainty that, although historically immortal, Tito is physically mortal—is to draw up allied contingency responses in case of trouble.

One of these must without question include diplomatic pressure on neighboring Turkey and Greece to end their bickering over offshore oil. Moreover, as far as Greece alone is concerned, it must be prodded back to the regular and more liberal form of government which the alliance club expects of its members.

French Right to the Border

QUEBEC — When Education Minister Francois Cloutier introduced Bill 22, the proposed Quebec legislation on language, before the national assembly in second reading Friday, he also served notice that the province feels it is on solid constitutional ground.

Power to legislate in the area of language is split between the provincial and federal governments with much of the responsibility in the hands of the province.

"The only constraint," Mr. Clouder said, "comes from section 133 of the British North America Act. This stipulates that either French or English can be used in debates of both the federal or Quebec legislatures as before the courts.

"As this is a question of basic rights, the Quebec government did not wish to modify this article even if, according to certain experts, we could have done so."

Mr. Cloutier next dealt with section 93 of the BNA Act, which recognizes Protestant and Roman Catholic school systems. Some have argued this also recognizes an implied right and reinforces an acquired right, to schools in both languages.

Free to Legislate.

"The great majority of experts maintain," Mr. Gloutier said, "that those who drafted this legislation were solely concerned with religious rights."

"The government is thus completely free to legislate in this area, within the framework of a language act.

"Moreover even if it could be successfully demonstrated that this section of the BNA Act can be extended to linguistic rights, this interpretation would atmost guarantee the existence of Englishlanguage schools for English-speaking people, but would not in itself justify a free choice of the language of instruction.

For many, such freedom does not now proceed from an absolute right but constitutes a kind of practical arrange-

Noting that the BNA Act does not discuss the language of work and business, Mr. Cloutier said the province based its constitutional ability to legislate in these areas on the power it already had over other aspects of business and labor activity

"Thus one can say that all businesses which do not specifically fall within federal jurisdiction are within provincial jurisdiction, whatever their place of incorporation."

Choice of Language

Mr. Cloutier dismissed the impact of federal bilingual legislation which he said only concerned that narrow area affecting federal government activities.

"There is no incompatability between the federal official languages act and a province declaring that the official language in its territory is the language which the majority of its people speaks. "This, moreover, is what the province of Manitoba has done.

"The real problem is not found at this level but rather in the manner in which each provincial government treats its minorities."

The government has revised the proposed legislation to provide "unequivocal" recognition of the existence of an English-language school system, the English-Canadians and English-speaking immigrants will have the right to send their children to the separate, English-language, school system.

Others will be directed into the majority French school system. The government promises to make every effort to give students in both systems an adequate knowledge of both French and English.

Conditional Choice

Freedom of choice will remain, conditional upon a test to be administered to prospective students transferring from one system to another.

The proposed legislation covers not only educational phut government, professional associations, public utilities, business and labor relations.

-- While individuals will be able to communicate with the government in English, organized groups and corporations will have to do so in French.

At least one city, Itull, has protested that Bill 22 may oblige it to offer more services in English than it does at present if planned municipal reorganization comes through.

tion comes through.

Behind the bill lies the idea that Quebec should be as French as Ontario and other provinces are English-speaking.

This is not the case at present and has not since the early 19th century.

For the majority of Quebecers, the real argument concerns whether or not Bill 22 can make this idea a reality.

Bagmen

Prior to the recent federal election you published a very fine although somewhat frightening article by Geoffrey Stevens of the Globe and Mail: "Liberal and Tory bagmen knocking on the same doors." I feel that the article was truly a damning condemnation of Canadian democracy. However, as a new electoral act has already been passed, we can hope for a cleansing of the political scene, although loop-holes will be found by contributors.

As a holder of several Canadian stocks I wrote to the companies concerned and requested information regarding the political contributions of these companies to the Liberal and Conservative parties. In addition I asked them if they would supply me with the authority from the shareholders for such contributions. To date I am still waiting for a reply.

I am fully aware of the fact that the Canadian Labor Congress and the individual unions subscribe funds to the NDP coffers, but the members of such bodies have the right to protest to their leaders if they do not approve of such contributions. Anyone who has attended the annual meetings of large corporations will know how completely futile it would be to protest at such meetings if they, like myself, are in disagreement with such political contributions.

I note that one of the bagmen made it quite clear that no Iavors were requested by the contributors. However, there is no truer saying than 'he who pays the piper plays the tune.' Well, the contributors to the two major parties will be well satisfied with the results of the elections and so their money has been well spent.

House Price

In Friday's paper, there was an article which stated that Peter Hartnell of Queen Victoria Inn has started a Williams Sympathy Fund. I want to suggest that his sympathy is very badly misplaced because there was an article with equally large headlines in The Times on June 6 about the same Peter Hartnell of Queen Victoria Inn, wherein he is accused of employing people on a trial basis without paying them. Mr. Hartnell admitted "that it is true that he has sometimes given prospective workers a trial shift without pay."

Because Mr. Hartnell is unwilling to pay some of his workers for trial shifts, I recommend that he divert the fund and call it Trial Workers Sympathy Fund. These people who have worked a whole shift at an onerous task without pay surely do need a sympathy fund.

while I grieve as much as anyone at the inflated prices of housing, I ask, does it make any sense at all to suggest that Mr. Williams sell his property at approximately the same price he paid for it in 1972, so that a speculator could snap it up and sell it the next day for the current market price? Absolutely nothing

Would Beter Hartnell, or any other businessman, offer his house for sale today at the 1972 market price? — Mrs. T. Warbuitton, 882 Fafaise Crescent.

The conditions prevalent today are vastly different from those witnessed during the same period last year. In 1913 many Chinese arrived by each incoming ship and it was not an uncommon thing for one of the Empresses to bring in 600 Chinese. Last year after a trans-Pacific ship berthed, there would be a great pile of Oriental luggage on the wharves and the express wagons would be kept busy for some hours transporting it to uptown quarters. The regulations recently put into effect by the Dominion government are keeping the steerage of the big steamships empty.

New Rules Next Time

goes into limbo, here are some notes on the constituency practices of the parties. Future elections will be framed by the "28 days" rule," that is, spending on political advertising in the media will be largely concentrated in the last four weeks of campaigns - by law.

Next time, candidates may a substantial 'recapture' portion of their spending from the federal treasury (of course, with proper accounting). Attractive tax relief will be available to those who donate to a campaign. However, much more of the time and intelligence of party workers will have to go simply in reaping these benefits. Less time and talent will be availble for the stock campaigning duties unless there is a magical surge in the numbers of those who voluntarily help

Standard Techniques

The standard components of a campaign in a constituency have been used for many years. In rough order of their valuation by the politicians these are: (a) Door-to-door canvassing in concert with the let and-or party literature; (b) Signs — lawn signs, thoroughfare signs, billboards, bumper signs; (c) Meetings with the public — at plant gates, bus and train stops, shopping centres, one-party gatherings, confrontation meetings, coffee parties, and appearances at events of nonpolitical associations; (d) Advertisements in print and on he electronic media; (e) Direct mailing advertising;
(f) Phone solicitation; (g) Election day services to voters such as free transport to polls; and (h) Gimmicks and ploys such as balloons.

In recent elections - say, roughly-since 1962 - the dual basics of constituency campaign in almost all urban con-stituencies have been canvassing and the sign war. Of intensive canvassing seeks and finds sign locations. Both practices have almost reached saturation, especially the sign warfare.

sky-writing, matchbooks, etc.

Diminishing Returns

Most able candidates and achieve a high sign penetra-tion. When one or two other, candidates do the same (as is are diminishing returns and a rising esthetic irritation of the Signs cancel each other out. More and more the practice is carried on for de-

Canvassing with intensity can be even more irritating to the electorate. Now that the Liberals and Tories are matching the NDP at canvassing, most canvassers are encountering resistance at the doors, expecially in apartment blocks.

Ohe would be a fool to predict a falling off in canvassing and signs. What is clear is that neither practice much left to exploit unless there is the magical increase > didates have been drawn into a regular round of daily public appearances, this aspect of campaigning often assuages the need to be doing something rather than being intrinsically useful. As the constituencies get more populous (and another re-distribution is not far away) it becomes harder to reach voters by these means. The readiness of electors to attend formal meetings is slipping. Canthis last campaign had 17 confrontation meetings, yet one of them told me he doubts whether a grand total of more than 1,000 attended, at least of those who were not in the candidates' claque.

Before the 1974 election in volunteerism to support parties and candidates. Canvassing is "labor intensive."

All radio, newspaper and television advertising by an individual candidate in a riding are increasingly unsatisfactory. The proliferation of TV channels, the many choices in radio station/frequencies, the override of the big circulation newspapers all make it harder and harder for a candidate to find/his own electors and the costs of them by these means are escalating beyond the funds of most consitituency organizations.

Ceiling/Reached

Direct mail as a means of reaching the voter has not been exploited in Canada as much as in the States. A canvass delivery is preferred. Direct mail is quite expensiye, if it is personalized. If bulk mail is used then the package has to be well done and thus expensive in terms of paper, color and illustra-tion. Phone solicitation has not been much used in Canadian constituency campaigns. Election day transport be-comes less and less a factor the metropolitan areas. What is more vital, apparently, is the combined work of poll scrutineers with committee room phone checks to ensure the candidates' votes get to the polls.

Again, a ceiling on the intensification in such work has been reached in many city ridings unless more and more olunteers come forward or there is such a whacking boost in riding revenues that people can be hired. The trends in the stock constituency practices leads one directly to the most obvious electoral trend of all - i.e. overwhelming primacy of a leader's campaign and, along with it, more eclipsing of the local candidate.

increasingly the case) there Concentrate Spending

There is a promise or a hope of more funds at the constituency level from the new elec-toral funding law. Unfortunately, the implementation of the act at the constituency level seems certain to centralize partisan electoral activity even more. Perhaps the main advantage of the new act will legal spending in the last four

SOLAR ENERGY GETTING A BOOST

While the sunne shinethmake hay

-John Heywood (1546)

The sunlight that most of us take for granted makes it possible to grow all the plants on earth, transform skyscrapers into spires of gold, produce air currents that turn 100,000 windmills, make dewdrops sparkle like diamonds and, at earth in a glorious refulgence.

To the layman it is usually something to enjoy.

But to solar and energy scientists, aware of the growing world-wide shortage of power, sunlight is a form of electromagnetic radiation that descends on the earth with a tremendous expenditure of energy that has yet to be tapped in any significant amount.

In the United States alone. has been estimated that some 9,000 trillion kilowatthours of solar energy are received annually, the equivalent of power available from 1,150 billion tons of coal. For purposes of comparison, current annual coal production in the U.S. is some 590 million tons, the equivalent of 2.190 billion barrels of oil.

Today, as the prices of conentional fuels go up and supBy BAYARD WEBSTER

plies go down, it is not hard to see why the promise of power from the sun has aroused much interest.

This recent surge of interest and activity has been trig-gered by a combination of problems compounded by an annual United States energy cent. These problems include:

A sharp rise in conumer costs for oil, gas and electricity.

• The knowledge that oil and gas reserves are not expected to last much beyond the year 2000. · Coal, though in good supply, cannot be mined with much greater intensity withtearing up the countryside. Nuclear power has encountered increasing econom-

It is no wonder that alternative power sources are now being more intensively investigated and promoted.

In recent months a dozen or more conferences on the use of solar energy have been held around the country. Although the broad spectrum of solar applications simple hot-water heaters to home heating and cooling, from electricity produced by solar cells to large power plant installations - were dis-cussed at these meetings, the centre of attention was the tantalizing prospect of commercial production of cost-competitive solar heating units for residential homes in

TUG DROPS TOW FOR

VANCOUVER (CP) — The deep sea salvage tug Sudbury II, owned by Seaspan International Ltd, of Vancouver, was forced to drop her barge tow early this week in mid-Pacific and return to Japan in order to save the life of her master, piain A. Buster Fransvaag of North Vancouver.

The captain was rushed to hospital at Kushiro, Japan, with a severed leg artery, and was reported out of danger Tuesday. Sudbury II was en route from Japan to Prudhoe Bay, Alaska, with two steef barges loaded with oil pipe. About 320 miles east of Hokkaido, Japan, the towing chain to the barge Ketchikan broke. While the tip was attempting to recover the barge Capt. Fransvaag caught his leg in a steel cable.

The uig abandoned both barges and raced back to Japan. Seaspan hired a Japanese salvage tug to stand by the two barges until Sudbury II returns to the scene.

The barges were reported in good shape but the weather was too rough for a pickup.

Students hired for the summer to do outdoor jobs for municipalities in the region seem to have a "grin-andbear-it" attitude about the rain plaguing their activities.

Lifeguards have no lives to guard and the leaders of outdoor playground programs are finding the outdoors too wet for anything but mud splashing.

Shootout in the NASL Not Entirely Hokum

VANCOUCER — It was "shootout" time at Empire Stadium Sunday, otherwise known as the North American Soccer League in action. This is the novel and controversial one-one type of competition that is so prevalent in sport today, and is also the NASL way of deciding tie games. Besides, it followed what had been 90 minutes of mostly interesting and entertaining football between Vancouver Whitecaps and Dallas Towards, exciting 2-2 las Tornado, ending 2-2.

Right or wrong — this penalty kick competition opposed to the old school system of corner kicks as a tie breaker? It matters not really, because this is a gimmick designed solely for North American consumption, and it may not be all hokum either.

It has its value, even though it is likely the present post-game format will be changed next season. Vancouver general manager Denny Veitch says the Whitecaps will support a change, in pionts, but not elimination of the shootout. He feels Dallas coach Ron Newman and general manager Echelle both also said they favor a different point system for tie-break games. They feel a team which earns a tie deserves some points even if it loses the shootoff. As it stands now, if a team doesn't score in a tie game, then loses the shootout, it gets nothing. In the Dallas case, it hurts even more, because the team has lost only two games in regulation time this season. The other four losses have been on tie-breakers.

The Case . . . In Points

So it's the same for everyone. True. And this is how the

For a normal win, a team gets six points, plus one point a goal up to a maximum of three, or a maximum of nine points. The losing team gets a point a goal.

In a tie game, the shootout takes place after the regula tion 90 minutes. Each coach names five players who take tion 90 minutes. Each coach names live players who take penalty kicks, in turn, at the opposing goalkeeper. The other players loll in the sun. Whichever team scores the most goals is declared game winner and awarded one goal, the tie-breaker. However, if the teams are still tied after five shots,

Meanwhile on Sunday the Whitecaps probably deserved better than being forced into the extra session, and could have used the extra three points they didn't get, in their fight for a playoff berth. Now, as it stands, they must win their remaining four games to keep that playoff hope alive.

There was one goal by Victor Kodelja that was called back on an offside and perhaps the Whitecaps had a beef because it was just like many other offside goals in soccer.

The referee at first ignored the linesman's call on the original infraction and allowed the play to go on. But then he recanted when Kodelja, on a subsequent move, hit a booming left footer into the far corner of the net. No goal.

Super-Rote Not So Super?

Besides, the two Dallas goals weren't exactly things of beauty in an aesthetic sense. On the first goal, Whitecap goalkeeper Sam Nusum fell over midfielder Les Wilson while attempting a clearance, and all Frederico Garcia had to do was hook the ball into the unguarded net.

On the second Dallas goal, "we gave the ball away stupidly," Coach Jim Easton charged. And if both goals were of the soft variety, perhaps it points up one reason for the Whitecaps' lack of success to date. The defence appeared a trifle shaky compared to the offence which had much more direction or as Easton evaluated. direction, or as Easton explained it: "we try to play a fluid game, from start to finish, and I think we are playing as well as anyone in the league at present."

Which may, or may not, be the case, or perhaps too late. Or then there was the noval explanation from Newman of Dalias in explaining why last year's super-rookie, Kyle Rote

Jr. didn't play until the final eight minutes.
"We had so many injuries, I didn't know where to play him: I thought if I put him in too early, then someone would get hurt, and I wouldn't have him to put in." Huh? If that was a reasonable explanation, the press-box wag had a better one:

'Th's crazy, isn't it, that here's a guy who can't get in shape to play a game he's paid to play, because he's doing too many personal appearances for being superstar in other

Well, anyway, that's a part of North American Soccer League action. Try it. You might like it. Even the "shootout". It is different. Oh, the final score? It was 6-2. In points.

Dizzy Dean Dies at 63

Dean, an Arkansas farm boy who pitched his way into baseball's Hall of Fame with a blazing fastball, died early today. He was 63.

Dean, who with his brother Paul formed a feared pitching duo for the "Gashouse Gang" of St. Louis Cardinals in the 1930s, died at St. Mary's Hospital, two days after suffering a heart, attack.

Dizzy Dean, a former cotton picker who said he only went through Grade 2, was one of baseball's great pitchers. But he might have reached much greater heights if an injury had not destroyed his effectiveness at age 27, when he should have only begun to

He was perhaps baseball's most eccentric character since the days of Rube Waddell, early in the 20th century. Waddell sometimes called in all the outfielders in exhibitions, then struck out the side. Dizzy preferred to fill the bases, then fan the side. He also was known to break cur-few and other rules on occasion.

He was a big right-hander who had a blazing fastball and bragged about it. He used to tell the hitters when the fastball was coming, then fire it past them. He struck out 17 batters in one game— then a record—and led the National League in strikeouts four straight years.

He won 30 games and lost only seven in pitching St. Louis Cardinals to the Na-tional League championship and World Series title against Detroit in 1934. No National League pitcher has reached the 30-game victory plateau since. His brother Paul won 19. Dizzy won two World Series games; Paul won the other two.

In one of baseball's amaz-ing feats, Dizzy pitched nine times in 19 days during the Cardinals' 1934 pennant drive and continuing into the World Series. He was voted the National League's Most Valuable Player that year.

DIZZY DEAN , fatal heart attack

Dizzy's career was cut short when he was hit on the toe by a line drive from the bat of Earl Averill in the 1937 All-Star Game. The injury changed his pitching motion, which subsequently hurt his arm and forced him to depend on curves instead of the fast

That proved to be Dizzy's downfall as a pitcher.

From a 30-7 record in 1934, 28-12 in 1935 and 24-13 in 1936, Dean slipped to 13-10 in 1937. Sold to Chicago Cubs for $185,000 and three players in 1938, he helped the Cubs to the 1938 pennant with a 7-1 record and started one game in the World Series against the New York Yankees

His career actually ended after a 3-3 record with the Cubs in 1940, except for one game in 1947 with the old St. Louis Browns when he had become a baseball radio announcer. He said he had become a sports "commulta-

Commercial Trollers Yield Some Good Tips

Commercial troller fishermen catching salmon off the west coast of Canada and the United States last season have come up with a few observations on gear which might interest sports fishermen.

After all, who knows better than a professional?

There seemed to be a distinct favoring of Octopus with a white belly and most felt the green and white worked best. The only exception was off Alaska, where a pearl belly was shown to be more effective.

Feed and water color emerged as important factors to consider by those using hootchies. Green patterns worked best in greenish water while lots of red or fluorescent markings paid off in brownish water. Solid fluorescent patterns produced more fish on foggy days.

Most of the trollers using spoons found nickel harder to care for than chrome because it tarnished faster.

Chrome spoons also worked better. One fisherman used a chrome spoon on one deep line and a nickel version of the same spoon on another, similarly rigged, line. At the end of one day, the chrome had produced over 135 coho while the nickel one violeted one violeted one violeted one. nickel one yielded only two.

Speaking about tarnishing, most trollers found a solution of hydratone and salt water in a plastic pail kept spoons bright while fishing while others preferred a strong solution of ordinary dish soap

Butch Neaves of Nanaimo found that leaders are important to good catch results.

"Fishermen who don't change it often will just not see the production that they should," he said.

Old leaders become fuzzy and gather light, which makes the line appear thicker, produces bubbles in the water and scares off the salmon?

Exposure to sunlight also harms the efficiency of leader material through bleaching and deterioration. Tie the gear as needed or store in airtight and lightproof containers."

Most trollers match leader color to water, using crystal leader in clear water and green line in green or blue water. It doesn't seem to make a difference what color of leader is used in brown water.

Another tip from the pros is to wet any knot before pulling it tight so the monofilament doesn't "burn" and cause

Elsewhere and otherwise in the outdoor world, some good news comes in from Campbell River.

The fish and wildlife branch, parks branch, B.C. Hydro and the Elk River Timber Co. will co-operate in improving some key wildlife habitat along the Elk River in Strathcona

Work is scheduled to begin shortly on removal of debris from about seven miles of river west from Upper Campbell Lake. This is intended to half further erosion of the river's flood plain and hence improve the critical wintering range of elk and deer inhabiting the area: Debris and stumps will be piled on open bar areas for burning later this year.

In the fall, wildlife biologists will study the area to assess the effectiveness of the project and consideration may be given to re-establish the river's fisheries potential after the banks are stabilized and vegetation established once again.

The trouble is: Why was this necessary in the first place?

NIBBLES: Chinook Club members of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association will stage their monthly Sunburn Derby from dawn to 2 p.m. Sunday.

Tickets for the 7th annual Export "A" $25,000 World Salmon Championships (the former B.C. Salmon Derby) should now be available from all provincial Super-Valu stores and official weigh-in stations. The event is set for Aug. 10 and 11 at Cowichan Bay, Pender-Harbor and in Howe Sound. Top prize is $25,000 and a $10,000 hidden-weight prize is being offered this year. Fishermen are reminded that the derby has new hours this year, with competition open to 6 p.m. on Aug. 1 to allow evening fishing and closing at 3 p.m. instead of 6 on Aug. 11.

Better Baseball Brawl So Ump Ejects Nobody

By The Associated Press Every time Bob Coluccio of Milwaukee Brewers stepped into the batter's box Tuesday night, things began to happen around him. The first three times up, Coluccio singled, scored two runs and drove in a third as the Brewers edged Minnesota Twins 5-4 in an American League baseball game.

The fourth time up, he got, in front of a pitch by Ray Corbin, touching off a brawl that moved in and Coluccio apone umpire said featured "at parently froze." least eight good fights.

Corbin's pitch struck Coluccio in the head, dropping him to the dirt and knocking his helmet 10 feet away.

"Everyone was huddled around Coluccio," Corbin said fater. "And the next thing knew (John) Briggs and (George) Scott started after me and before you knew it, things were out of hand."

Coluccio was out cold for several moments, but left the field under his own power. He was taken to hospital for pre-

In Tuesday's other games, California Angels clouted Cleveland Indians 11-2, Oakland A's nipped Baltimore Orioles 4-3, New York Yankees blanked Texas Rangers 20, Kansas City Royals edged Boston Red Sox 5-4, and Chi-cago White Sox shut out Detroit Tigers 6-0.

In the National League, Cincinnati Reds moved within 61/2 4 games of Los Angeles Dodgers by beating St. Louis Cardinals 12-7 while the Dodgers dropped an 8-7 squeaker to Mon-treal Expos. In other contests, Pittsburgh Pirates beat Houston Astros 6-2, Chicago Cubs tripped Atlanta Braves 7-2, San Diego Padres shaded Philadelphia Phillies 5-4 and San Francisco Giants downed New York Mets 9-4.

Joe Lahoud hit a pair of two-run homers and Frank Tanana blanked the Indians in a six-inning relief stint as the Angels won their fifth in six tries after losing their first under new manager Dick Wil-

Rollie Fingers took over for Oakland starter Ken Holtz-man and fanned Brooks Robinson with the tying run in scoring position, then struck out two more in the ninth. George Medich blanked the Rangers on five hits and Sandy Alemar and Bobby Murcer drove in third-inning runs as the Yankees handed 19-year-old David Clyde his.

VANCOUVER (CP) = Marilyn Palmer, who has dominated women's golf here for the past 10 years, took a mammoth 10-stroke lead Tuesday after completion of medal play in the British Columbia women's amateur golf championship.

The Vancouver golfer fired a one-over-par 74 at the Marine Drive Golf Club, a stroke less than her round Monday, to lead 15 other women into the match play portion of the tournament.

In second place was Gail Moore of Vancouver, who had an 80 Tuesday for a 159 total. Carolyn Larsen of Vancouver and Susan McCleery of Kamloops were tied for third with 160.

Palmer, Moore, Dale Shaw f Sidney and Valerie White of Vancouver were named to the B.C. team competing at the Canadian Women's amateur championship at Edmonton, Aug. 19 to 24.

Draw Plan Announced For Hockey

OTTAWA (CP) - To be eligible for the Team Canada 74-Russia hockey series ticket draw this fall, the public must send a self-addressed enve-lope to Hockey Canada, Box 9105, Ottawa, Ont., KIG 3H9, Hockey Canada announced Tuesday.

Tickets will not be sold any other way, a spokesman for the association said.

While no deadline has been set, the spokesman said there is only a limited number of tickets available and each self-addressed envelope must state on the dutside which game a person wishes to see.

The first is in Quebec City, Sept. 17, followed by games in Toronto Sept. 19, Winnipeg Sept. 21, and Vancouver Sept.

If you qualify for tickets the price will be $10 each in all centres except Toronto where they will cost $12.

The defence wound up its evidence Tuesday by reading into the record partial examination for discovery of R. M. Jamiesen, Canadian manager for the Zurich Insurance Co.,

Jamieson was on record as having said Zurich had not aggressively tried to expand auto insurance business in B.C. in recent years.

The reason, said Jamieson, was the Zurich had perceived conditions developing in which a certain section of the industry was engaging in the practice of "creaming" or excessive selection in the insurance market.

It was a practice, said Jamieson; that Zurich deplored and therefore his company was operating in the market with a degree of caution.

Heare 'ye! Hear ye! For this claim two things: speed and nourishment.

No claims are laid for gourmet status. This is simply a good nourishing meal which three hungry students or bachelors can slam together in 10 minutes flat.

For my sook friends in this audience I think you will want to substitute cooked egg noo-dles for the chow mein noodles so be warned and see my note below.

TASTY HASTY TUNA (serves 3 hungry students)

Note: Remember sometime during the previous evening to put 2 eggs on to hard-cook. One 10-oz. can cream of chicken soup;

7-oz. can tuna un drained; One 10 oz. can peas (see below);

2 tbsp, chopped pimiento; 2 hard-cooked eggs sliced; 4-oz. can -chow mein noodles."

Heat noodles on pan in

It took me exactly 5 minutes to open the tins and chop the pimiento. I tipped off half of the liquid from the peas and emptied all into sauce-pan. I turned on the heat to "high", sliced the hard-cooked eggs and added them. I gently stirred the mixture as it came to boil.

My helpers served the heated noodles on four plates and I spooned the tuna mixture

'Taking of the Waters' Includes a Strict Diet

By CRAIG CLAIBORNE

MONTECATINI TERME, Italy — When we were very young (and very, very poor), we used to read the novels of authors such as Henry James and Edith Wharton and it seemed to us that their characters were forever rushing off to Europe "to drink the waters" and "take the cure" and it sounded rousingly somantic. We decided that spas were places for important people who were eternally engaged either in hopeless love affairs; international intrigue or contemplating suicide.

Thus, when we were invited to Montecatini Terme, Italy's best-known spa, we found the invitation irresistible on sev-eral counts. Although we had recently been assured that our liver was a model of resilience, we thought this visit might provide the occasion to give it a respite of seven days without alcohol. After all, -we reflected, not a day had passed in 20 years that it had not been dosed with a goodly supply.

In the second place, by following a diet of our own devising, we would set as our goal the loss of a pound of flesh a day for each day of our stay. Our medicine man in Manhattan had in no sense been averse to that idea,

We planned to stay at the Grand Hotel and La Pace in Montecatini Terme, and we had had a foretaste of the glories of that kitchen some months previous. Last winter two of the chefs had prepared a monumental meal, devastatingly good and devastatingcalorie in our home. They had promised at the time that if we came to the Grand Hotel and La Pace, they could be equally adept at low-calorie

On arrival the hotel's general manager, a distinguished native, had told us that the general routine was to consult physician before starting

Dr. Siro Stefanelli arrived the next morning and withdrew a 16-page form from his pulse, prodded the liver, listened to the heart and sampled the blood pressure. He wrote out a "prescription," to begin immediately. No breakfast before the waters.

There are several stabili-menti where the waters are taken in Montecatini, all of them open to the public for a We were assigned to the stabilimento Tettuccio, a multiform, theatrically-designed place, which although built in the early 1900's, resembles a Roman

It is estimated that more than 10,000 visitors of interna-tional origin visit the thermal

There are six basic waters which are prescribed for whatever reasons you happen to be in Montecatini Terme, the four principal ones being torretta, regina, tettuccio and tamerici. All of the waters have a not-unpleasant saltiness, tasting rather like something you'd gargle with on other occaasions.

On the first morning each guest is furnished by the hotel with a personal glass, grad-uated with cubic centimeter markings and with the maximum volume of 250 cubic Centimeters or approximately one cup. We were instructed to drink four cups of water, to be taken at intervals, each

Each morning we began with one and one-half of warm tarretta water to be drunk in five minutes, followed by a five-minute pause. Then one and one-half cups of warm regina water taken in 15 minutes, followed by a 10-minute pause. Finally a single glass of luke-warm tettuccio water to be drunk in 10 minutes. utes. inefficiency of the cure," the good doctor wrote, wrote, "is often due to a wrong diet. Be, therefore, moderate at the table and watch out for excess in food and drinking even though the petite.

By high noon we felt phys cally engulfed by tempests of hunger and thirst. We were also having wild misgivings about such a precipitate leap into the world of moderation. Or deprivation as it seemed to us then. Strange aberrations started to set in. Somehow we felt hairier.

We had learned on arrival at the hotel that there is no diet specifically formulated for the guests. The food in the dining rooms is first-rate, however, and much of it easily assembled into a lowcalorie pattern. The foods rec ommended in our prescription folder were spelled out as follows: nonfat and only highly salted appetizers; vegetable soups; white meab either boiled, roasted or grilled; nonoily fish, boiled or grilled; boiled or mashed vegetables ripe and fresh or cooked fruits; fresh cheese. Bever-ages included lightly charged mineral waters, coffee and

For seven days we rather steadfastly adhered to that diet and we lost six pounds.

If anyone plans to suffer the agonies of a "cure" including complete abstinence from alcohol and a severely limited intake of food, there could scarcely be a pleasanter set-ting and accommodations than the Grand Hotel and La Pace in Montecatini.

The menu is French and the kitchen excellent. The hotel The hotel has 170 rooms and 22 suites. The cost, with three meals a day included, is $25 for a single room; $65 a day for a suite with single occupancy. $110 a day for a suite with double occupancy.

Packages Up Food Cost

TORONTO (CP) -- Food prices are rising as every shopper knows. but one less obvious cost increase lately has been in food packaging egg cartons, the plastic wraps and even the grocery bag.

Statistics Canada reported that food prices in May rose 18.3 per cent from May, 1973, but the brown bags to carry groceries home now cost 2.2 cents, up from 1.4 cents a year ago.

"The cost of packaging is going up so rapidly we're barely keeping up," says Doug Grant, director of purchasing and packaging with John Labatt Ltd. of London, Ont.

Consumers have already seen the effects of rising prices and shortages.

Abundant Floral Clues Reveal Elusive Summer

Signs of the progress of summer are all around. If we look and observe we may each see our own set of clues in the environment which is most familiar.

In city parks with manicured flower borders you notice the growth of fall asters, heleniums and chrysanthemums, the seedpods and fruits noticeable on oaks, hollies, barberries

Woodland parks are exhibiting dry underbrush where squirrels will soon be hunting seeds from summer-dried cones, and the birds are already feasting on the soft berries of high summer.

You may ask "what summer?" I doubt whether any other life form than we humans are asking that question, for fundamentally and inevitably the season is following its course towards the fall of the year regardless of whether we are dissatisfied with summer.

are dissatisfied with summer.

In the garden, overnight it seemed, tiny clusters of pinhead sized, pinkish buds are to be seen in every leafy tip of the Laurustinus shurbs (Viburnum tinus). Even though they may never open in our garden because of its late spring frosts, we like the old shrub for its evergreen bulk and lively flower buds from now until New Year.

As we think ahead to fall our attention should go to garden shrubs liable to suffer injury by early frosts.

These are usually natives from warmer climates, or from

These are usually natives from warmer climates, or from high altitudes where their growth is made dormant by specif-ic conditions which limit their continued growth after midsummer. They will thrive here if we don't load them with too much softening attention. If, as with young children, we accustom these shrubs (or other plants) to a bit of deprivation, they become able to withstand later hardships.

Here we have the explanation for our yearly warning in July that no more fertilizer shall be given to either shrubs or trees after July 15. This is an absolute deadline.

The reason is that the new growth made this summer-must be well ripened before fall frosts and freezing winter

Just as important is the gradual reduction of the amour of water given these same shrubs. This does not mean that watering must suddenly stop, but it cautions against the continuing of the amounts which have been needed this year, indeed in most years on southern Vancouver Island from

Broadleaved evergreens including holly, rhododendrons, pierises, viburnums, even winter daphne, are busy now amking either flower buds (rhodos), berries (holly) or both (Daphne mezereum).

These processes we call ripening, entailing the development of certain harder tissues to act as protection during winter. If too much water is constantly taken in by the roots during the next two months new soft tissues develop due to continued intake of soil nutrients.

All these signs coupled with a cricket or two vaulting across our path add up to high summer and its responsibilities for gardeners if our gardens are to continue in beauty her ace now or later wouldn't have mattered, for all she have mattered, for all she could come to would be eight tricks: four spades, three diamonds, and one club. And if declarer decided to lead a heart in the early stages of play, hoping that East had the heart ace, she would have gone down two tricks, losing five clubs and one heart five clubs and one heart.

At most tables, North-South arrived at a four-heart con-tract, making either 10 or 11 tricks (a spade opening lead, and the return of a spade which East would when West obtained the lead with the trump ace, would hold declarer to 10 tricks). So Mesdames Farell and Johnson got a "bottom" on the

At a public meeting in this community on the northeast coast of Vancouver Island, the legislature's committee on municipal matters was told that the fishing industry returns almost nothing to fisherand their dependents, who make up most of the community's economic base.

Arnie Wasden, a local resident, said fishermen in the area "produce millions of dollars a year, yet we don't get any part of it,'

"They spend some money up here but a lot of it goes out too," said Wasden. "The fish goes to Vancouver and it's processed in Steveston.

"Why aren't we getting any-thing out of the fishing industry in our community?'

Mrs. Jean Hinton said some fishermen pay $4,000 annually in taxes and asked "do we get anything back?'

Not very much," she said. Dr. Jack Pickup, Alert Bay's mayor, said local resiout of the community and should be given back some-

Municipal Affairs Minister James Lorimer said he agreed with residents that some method of distributing revenues to areas low in tax base had to be worked out. "But I don't believe giving the areas a percentage of the benefits of the products is the answer, because a lot of areas don't . produce / anything,' Lorimer said.

Rence Taylor, assistant manager of the Nimpkish In-dian band here, said the band's idea of establishing a fish farm and aguaculture farm here might establish a secondary industry.

Key Skagit Spawning Area Affected

WASHINGTON (CP) - The 'single most important spawning area" for rainbow trout on the Skagit River system in British Columbia would be flooded if the Ross Dam in Washington State is raised, an expert witness acknowledged Tuesday.

But the witness insisted that fish which normally spawn in the area might be moved up-stream to other grounds to breed their young ministrative law Judge Allen Lande opened the fourth and perhaps final — series of public hearings by the United States federal power commission. At issue is an application by Seattle City Light to add 2,120 feet to the height of its Ross Dam, flooding an additional 5,000 acres of the scenic Skagit Valley in B.C.

The project has been vigorously opposed by the cur-rent British Columbia governoriginally approved 30 years ago and B.C. renewed the approval in 1967, but Canadian sentiment has since shifted against the plan.

Tuesday's testimony fea-tured hundreds of questions about the fine details of a massive, three-volume study of fish movements on the Skagit River and in the reservoir behind the present dam. E. B. Doran, a McGill grad-

Prices 'Half Story'

Vancouver food prices are the highest in Canada only told "half the story," Agriculture Minister Dave Stupich said

Higher wages in B.C. mean Vancouver residents are actu-ally better off than shoppers in other parts of Canada, according to Stupich.

The June 6 survey, pre-pared by newspaper food editors and writers, revealed that—a standard 34-item food basket cost $31.04 in Van-couver compared with the lowest Canadian total of $28.44 in Montreal.

But, based on an average weekly wage of $194.31, British Columbians spend only 15.9 per cent of their income on food, the lowest in Canada.

Stupich said he bases this percentage on the average weekly wage level published in the latest Statistics Canada report.

Using those wage levels, the same food basket in Quebec would cost 17.2 per cent of the average wage and in Saskatchewan would take almost 20 per cent of the average wage

"You can't store a buggy in the hall, for example."

Karpic said the eight-per-cent limit on rental increases is the main reason for curtail-ment of apartment construction. Potential builders are not interested in falling be-hind the rate of inflation which has been running 14 to

Israel Pitching For $2B in Aid

Times News Service Israeli leaders told U.S. Treasury Secretary William Simon today that Israel needs more than $2 billion a year in military and economic aid from the United States, gov-ernment officials reported in Finance Minister Yehoshua Rabinowitz told Simon that Israel's balance of payments deficit this year amounts to $3 billion, most of it due to despending during and the October Middle East war, the officials said.

Simon met for an hour with Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and then confered with Rabinthree-day visit to Israel.

The Treasury Secretary told newsmen upon arrival in Tel Aviv Tuesday night that the United States "will be helpful in every way that we can help with assistance that's been so characteristic of our rela-differences between the monarch and the commandos.

In Jerusalem, Rabin said he was unable to guarantee an end to Arab guerrilla attacks against Israel despite measures taken to block infiltration from neighboring

The Israeli national radio, however, quoted Rakin as saying guerrilla raids were not the most serious threat facing the Jewish nation.

"We must be vigilant in maintaining an alert in the event that a military confrontation with the Arab states is imposed on us," he was reported as saying. Falastin Al Thawra, the ofratastin Al Trawra, the of-ficial newspaper of the Pales-tine Liberation Organization, accused Hussein of "collusion with imperialism and the Zionist enemy.'

lifted from his sailing boat turned in the alarm. Tuesday night after it A helicopter piloted by Capt. Bob Goldie went out beached on a reef off Comox, pounded by high waves and wind.

A Pacific Rescue Centre spokesman in Victoria said today Mike Lavigne was sailing solo from Campbell River to Vancouver when he lost control of his 30-foot sailing boat, Coronado.

Capt. Bob Goldie went out and, buffeted by winds and spray, hovered 50 feet over the bobbing beat and lowered para-rescue Master Cpl. Gerry Boucher.

Boucher got on the back of the boat and tied a sling around Lavinge, and the pair was lifted out together as the 40-foot mast "lashed like a sword" in the wind.

The spokesman said winds up to 30 knots blew out the main sail causing the boat to careen wildly onto a reef at Kye Bay, just off Com x air

Lord Chalfont said Sadat refused both on and off camera to name the Arab leader who gave the order

Lead Blamed For Cancer

SEATTLE (AP) - Radioac tive lead, which occurs naturally in the environment and settles on tobacco leaves, is probably the main cause of lung cancer in cigarette smokers, says an expert on

Dr. Edward Radford Johns Hopkins School of Hy-giene and Public Health said in an interview Tuesday night he will reveal, his findings Thursday in a paper to be de-livered at the 5th Interna-tional Congress of Radiation Research.

Radford said his evidence means a closer look must be given to low-level alpha radiation emanating from nuclear power plants of the kind now being built.

He said his research in cooperation with that of Edward for Atmospheric Research in Lead 210, a radioactive lead tope, and a product into which it decays, Polonium 210, which emits alpha particles, or helium nuclei.

Dr. Radford said the evidence is that Lead 210 naturally occurring in the environ-ment accumulates on the hairs of tobacco leaves, especially those grown on the East

He said deep inhalation by smokers deposits the radioactive materials in the lungs.

In his paper, Dr. Radford says: "... With reasonable assumptions it appears that polonium decay as an initiator accounts for a substantial fraction, if not all, of cigarette-induced cancers

Joint Session Set

CANBERRA (Reuter) Prime Minister Gough' Whit-lam's Labor government announced plans today for an unprecendented joint session of both houses of Parliament to avert a constitutional crisis in Australia.

The government said the joint meeting of the House of Representatives and the Senate, likely to begin July 30, is to ensure the government's key bills are passed. Earlier this year the Senate twice rejected six major bills from the House of Representatives, plunging the country into the May 18 general election at which the Labor gov ernment's mandate was Whitlam told a news conference Tuesday he hopes the upper house will not continue its former course.

BILL REJECTED

But only hours afterwards the Liberal and Country party opposition in the Senate, with the help of an independent member, rejected a bill reguural electorates

Voting in the 60-seat Senate was tied at 29-to-29 which under the rules meant that the bill was rejected.

It was one of the six bills thrown out by the Senate opposition in the previous session. Others, still on the legislative program, include mea-sures to implement Labor's national health scheme and ownership of petroleum and president; said most food sup-pliers withdrew "cents-off" withdrew deals before the election in anticipation of a price freeze.

B.C. Communication Takeover Urged

and establishment of a power ful B.C. Communications Authority have been recom-mended by a provincial government report made public

Former Liberal MLA Barrie Clark prepared the 36-page report over a three-month period and calls the final product "a proposal to establish an integrated communications system in B.C.

The main proposals of the report, including one that the government act as quickly as possible in taking over B.C. Telephone was "leaked" to the press June 25.

The recommendation calls for establishment of a B.C. Communications Authority (BCCA) to operate a pro-vince-wide network which all cablevision operations would be required to relay.

Clark also asked the province to continue its fight to take over from the federal. authorities regulatory juris-

$1M Winner Hospital Patient

(Times News Services)

#mmmmmmm#

A patient at Royal Victoria Hospital in Barrie, Ont., is believed to be the $1-million winner in Canada's second Olympic Lottery draw.

Hospital administrator Donald Cameron said today that he "understands" that patient Max Matetich is aware he has ne a millionaire. The administrator said that Matetich, a district manager here for Thomas Adams Distillers (Ontario) Ltd., could not be interviewed for confirmation of his windfall.

John Matetich of Cambridge, brother of the patient, was reached at the patient'se home here today but did not confirm

"I've heard the rumor too but I haven't seen the ticket."
The brother said he did not know where the ticket is.

Mary Cuamo of the Toronto suburb of Mississauga and sister of the patient, was en route here, the brother said. Jim MacLean, 25, a $155-a-week Toronto printer, won the $500,000 prize. He said he hoped to fly to Montreal later today

After that, he plans to take his wife and three-month-old son back to his native Nova Scotia where he will enrol in university.
"Everybody deams of it," MacLean said Tuesday night.

"It's crazy, it's beautiful."..

He was out driving with a neighbor when the draw was shown on television. When he returned home, his wife Madonna greeted him, crying: "We won, you won, we won!"

MacLean said he will borrow the airplane fare to Montreal to pick up his prize today.

Julien Cote, general manager of the lottery, said unofficially that two residents of British Columbia were believed to hold prize-winning tickets.

Paul Beena of New Westminster, 6th Ave., Apt. 111, won $100,000 with ticket number 5780157, while Douglas J. Martin, of North Vancouver, 32 Regent St., won $25;000 with

Their names were matched ahead of others because they purchased their tickets by mail, Cote said in an interview.

The 12 prize-winning numbers were all purchased in British Columbia, Ontario, and Quebec.

Next Olympic Lottery draw will be held Nov. 1 in Fredericton, N.B.

mostly lower.
Wheat and corn lost around cents. Soybean meal eased $2 a ton but soybean oil closed with a gain of 85 points after touching the limit of 100 points.

Soybean futures had advanced 20 cents a bushel for three straight days and, under exchange rules, the next three days would trade with a 30-cent limit. A strong demand and a lack of sellers lifted prices 20 cents early. New crop ontions, however, closed a shade lower.

The higher nearby prices appeared to reflect some tightness in stocks while weaker distant options indicated expectations of possibly record production. Despite the wide price swings in meal and oil, trade was thin. corn and Wheat,

Those Park People Are Bearing the Rain While Praying for Sun

By LIZ HUGHES

Students hired for the summer to do outdoor jobs for municipalities in the region seem to have a "grin-andbear-it" attitude about the rain plaguing their activities.

Lifeguards have no lives to guard and the leaders of outdoor playground programs are finding the outdoors too wet for anything but mud

"It's pretty miserable," said Trudy Clark, director of the Sidney Recreation Commission's summer playground program which provdes activities for about 120 youngsters.

is to receive the subsidized use of the city-owned Bastion Square Court House building, it should be one "more directly beneficial to the community at large" than the Mari-time Museum, says Ald. Sam

In an interview Tuesday Bawlf said the building could be more appropriately the centre for a "variety of cul-tural and civic uses," including a downtown extension of the Greater Victoria Art Galteres for the Bastion Theatre group which now occupies civic information centre

These and other community enterprises are "better-suit-ed" to the Court House tenancy and "have priority" over the Maritime Museum in council's estimation, he added. But Bawlf denied rumors that city council's motive in ordering the museum to vacate the premises early next year is to lease the building to the provincial government for office space.

"There is no way we are going to consider that vital building for government offices," he stressed. "No way, period."

Oyster's Ship Blown Sky High

One of Vancouver Island's historical landmarks, the old warship used as a breakwater in Oyster Bay, was blasted sky-high today.

The decommissioned Second World War frigate was blasted to below sand level for safety and aesthetic reasons, said Ernie Venus, manager of the Menzies Bay division of MacMillan Bloedel, the owners of the ship.

The ship was positioned in the bay, about 1 mile south of Campbell River, in 1942 to protect a MacMillan Bloedel booming ground which is no longer used.

At low tide, children can clamber over rocks and climb aboard the rusted hull, Venus said, which is now sharp and danger-

"This is being done as an aesthetic thing too. It's not a very beautiful landmark,

Almost every graduating class in the area has left its paint mark on the ship.

Venus said the breakwater would not be replaced as it now serves no useful purpose since the phasing out of the Oyster Bay booming ground.

The ship will be blasted below sand level and the pieces taken away for salvage. But one piece of the old ship has found a resting place, probablly forever. A chunk of the first piece that was blasted was taken across the road to the owners of the Driftwood Cafe and presented to them as a mo-

$1M Winner Hospital Patient

(Times News Services)

A patient at Royal Victoria Hospital in Barrie, Ont., is believed to be the $1-million winner in Canada's second Hospital administrator Donald Cameron said today that

жининининины

he "understands" that patient Max Matetich is aware he has become a millionaire. The administrator said that Matetich, a district manager here for Thomas Adams Distillers (Ontario) Ltd., could not be interviewed for confirmation of his windfall.

John Matetich of Cambridge, brother of the patient, was reached at the patient's home here today but did not confirm it either.

"I've heard the rumor too but I haven't seen the ticket

The brother said he did not know where the ticket is. Mary Cuamo of the Toronto suburb of Mississatga and sister of the patient, was en route to Barrie, the brother said. Jim MacLean, 25, a $155-a-week Toronto printer, won the $500,000 prize. He said he hoped to fly to Montreal later today

After that, he plans to take his wife and three-month-old son back to his native Nova Scotia where he will enrol in uni-
